Economic and environmental questions: public administration and development

Draft resolution submitted by the President of the Council, Mr. Munir Akram (Pakistan), on the basis of informal consultations

Report of the Committee of Experts on Public Administration on its fourth session and dates, venue and provisional agenda for the fifth session of the Committee

The Economic and Social Council,

Recognizing the importance of good governance which flows, inter alia, from a harmonious and balanced relationship of the State, the private sector and civil society, and recognizing the importance of State capacity, including institutional and human resource capacity, in securing steady and sustainable progress towards internationally agreed commitments and objectives,

Recognizing that all Member States, particularly the developing countries, can greatly benefit from peer learning and the sharing of experiences about innovation and initiative in the public sector,

Recognizing that the United Nations Public Service Award is an effective means of rewarding outstanding achievements in the area of public administration and encouraging their replication,

Recognizing recent regional initiatives which have led to successful actions to promote integrity, transparency and accountability,

Underscoring the importance of public administration as a tool to support progress on development and human rights in line with the United Nations Millennium Declaration,[1]

Reaffirming the need to deepen the participatory processes of government to ensure citizens' engagement to achieve the internationally agreed development goals, including those contained in the Millennium Declaration and to encourage the
